Soda Water in the Market-House! HALL'S SODA WATER

Is equal to the best manufactured in the District of Co-lumbia, as thousands would willingly certify. His stand is on the south side of the Eastern Market-house— fountain, glasses, sirups, and ice pure, fresh, and abundant; and he is always ready when called. "At rosy morn, at sultry noon, or dewey evs," this is the refreshing drink for the temperate and healthy. Be sure to look for HALL'S STAND. It is easily found, and, "when found, make a note on it," as Captain Cuttle says.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or those contemplating marriage, being sware of physical weakness, should immediately consult Dr. J., and be restored to perfect health.

Office, No. I South Frederick street, Baltimore, Maryland, on the left hand side, going from Baltimore street, seven doors from the corner. Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

of sometimes with derangement of mind, were circe immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by private and improper indulgences, that secret and solidary habit, which ruln both body and mind, unfitting them for either business or society.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c., &c.

Mentally.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evi Forebodings, Arcrison of Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Weakness of the system, Nervous Debility and premature decay generally arise from the destructive habit of youth, that solitary practice so fatal to the healthful existence of man, and it is the young who are most apt to become its Victims, from an ignorance of the dangers to which they subject themselves. Parents and Guardians are often misled with respect to the cause or source of disease in their sons and wards. Alas! how often do they ascribe to other causes the wasting of the frame, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, derangement of the Nervous System, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption; also those serious Mental effects, such as loss of Memory, Depression of Spirits, or peculiar fits of Melancholy, when the truth is, they have been caused by indulging in Pernicious but alluring practices, destructive to both Body and Mind. Thus are swept from existence thousands who might have been of use to their Country, a pleasure to their friends, and ornaments to Society.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

This grand and important Remedy has restored strength and vigor to thousands of the most debilitated individuals, many who had lost all hopes, and been abandoned to die. By its complete invigoration of the Nervous System, the whole faculties become restored to their proper power and functions, and the fallen fabric of life is raised up to beauty, consistency and duration, upon the ruins of an emaciated and premature decline, to sound and pristine health. Oh, how happy have hundreds of misguided youths been made, who have been suddenly restored to health from the devastations of those terrific maladies which result from indiscretion! Such persons, before contemplating NERVOUS DEBILITY.

should reflect that a sound mind and bedy are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without this, the journey through life becomes a weary pil-grimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melan-holy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately.

ed with our own. Let no imply immediately.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston may religiously confide in his honor as a Gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

TO STRANGERS.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last ten years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. J., witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guara . It that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physican.

guara : ty that the afflicted will find a skillful and honorable physican.

TAKE NOTICE.

It is with the greatest reluctance that Dr. Johnston permits his card to appear before the public, deeming it unprefessional for a physician to advertise; but unless he did so, the afflicted, especially strangers, could not fail to fall into the hands of those imprudent, boasting impostors—individuals destitute of knowledge, name, and character—pedlars, shoemakers, mechanics, &c., advertising themselves as physicians; ignorant quacks, who keep you trifling month after month, as long as possible, and in despair leave you with ruined health to sigh over your galling disappointment. It is this motive alone that induces Dr. J. to advertise, for he alone can cure you. To those unacquainted with his reputation he deems it necessary to say, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his Office.

Weakness of the Organs immediately cured, and full vigor restored.

CONSUMPTION.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND SORE NESS OF THE BODY, take the CHERET PECTORAL on going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night.

FOR A COLD AND COUGH, take it morning, noon, and evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed. None will long suffer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily cured. Persens afflicted with a seated cough, which breaks them of their rest at night, will find, by taking the CHERET PECTORAL on going to bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded to thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

From its agreeable effect in these cases, many find themselves unwilling to forego its use when the necessity for it has ceased.

AMERICAN TELEGRAPH.

From the Ohio State Journal OUR LEADER.

Now fling the glorious banner out— The streamers to the air; The people come, with song and shout— For songs and shouts prepare.

Old LUNDY'S noble plume appears,
A glory to the free—
A threat'ning omen to the fears,
Poor Loco soul, of thee!

And onward drives the hero-man, 'Mid Cerro Gordo's roar! While Churubusco leads the van, And thunders loud before! Chepultepec, through smoke and fire, Is belching loud and clear! And Vera Cruz, with iron hail.

Is storming in the rear! The war-cry through the pallid ranks Of Loco spoilers rings, And o'er their front, and rear, and flanks, A trembling sickness brings.

Forget it not—the fearless Scott Is leader in the fight; So march with songs upon old wrongs— The war-songs of the right.

Is General Pierce a Hero?

If his friends say no, we have nothing more to say. Our purpose is only to disprove their declarations to this effect. He is, or he is not. nounce an imposture.

We have heretofore quoted from the Republic the statement of "One who knows;" and we have also apprized our readers that "Old Army," in the same paper, had contradicted the former. He to-day, however, reappears; and to this second communication we invite the attention of every reader. It is as follows:

To the Editor of the Republic: Republic of 22d June, makes a great number of zens to adopt such measures as they may deem assertions, arranged under separate heads, duly numbered, and bearing a most imposing simili-tude to a "General Order;" but he proves noth-He tells us what the official orders show, but he does not bring forward the record, nor cite the book and page.

Now, not to be drawn from my original position by the many irrelevant statements of "Old Army," I repeat what I said in my first communication: that General Pierce, though with the army in the valley of Mexico, was personally engaged in not one of the great battles, and that he resigned and came home months before the war was ended. And I say, therefore, that he did nothing to entitle him to the least distinction as an officer, and that those who claim it for him do it without knowledge of the facts, or with pererse misrepresentation. Was Gen. Pierce at Contreras on the 20th of August? He says, in his own report, (see mesage and documents for 1847-8, pages 105-6:) "At one o'clock on the following morning, (the 20th August,) Gen. Twiggs, with Capt. Lee, &c., came to my bivouse, with orders from the general-in-chief to assemble all the forces, &c. Being myself unable to keep my saddle or to walk, in consequence of a severe injury from the fall of my horse during the day of the funeral. the day before, the command of the force devolved on Col. Ranson," &c.

Was General Pierce at Churubusco on the afernoon of the 20th August?

In the same report he says: "It was my misfortune, as before stated, to receive a serious injury from the fall of my horse on the afternoon of the 19th. This accident rendered me unable to struggle with the difficulties of the ground over which we were obliged to pass, &c., and, in the effort to do so, I fell (faint from exhaustion and pain) a few yards from the severest fire of the enemy's line."

General Shields, in his report, confirms the act that Pierce was not with his brigade, for he action, lost a considerable number of men." (See Shields's report, same volume.)

Was General Pierce at Molino del Rey on the 3th September? Your correspondent "Old Army" says he was, casion. What does General Scott's report say ?

"The battle was won just as Brigadier General Pierce reached the ground. What does General Worth, who commanded the forces in that battle, and who, from necessity, must be the best witness, say? In a letter to General Scott, December, 27, 1847, (see Executive Document, No. 60, 1848, page 1,077,) he places the matter beyond dis-

"I have to assert that the battle had been won nore than one hour before General Pierce's bryad or any other support, reached the ground; that I had been nearly that length of time engaged in collecting the wounded and the dead; that General Pierce's brigade did not approach El Molino to replace Garland, and to occupy that captured work, until two hours after its arrival," &c. Surely this official statement must confound "Old Army," and satisfy the "rest of mankind that General Pierce did not "bring up his command under fire" at Molino! Was Gen. Pierce at Chapultepec, or the ga-ritas, on the 13th of September? In his own report he says: "I was compelled to leave the field in conse quence of severe indisposition, which confined me to my bed during the 13th, and of course deprived me of the satisfaction of participating with Again, in the same report :

"At 4 o'clock, on the morning of the 14th, I rejoined that portion of my brigade (9th regiment) then acting under orders of Major General

Quitman at the garita, on the Tacubaya road. Generals Quitman and Smith say, in their reports, that the Mexican authorities informed hem at dawn on the 14th that Santa Anna had retired with his forces from the city. General Pierce reached the garita at 4 o'clock, and the Mexican authorities, to surrender the city, at dawn. Which was the first there, I confess I cannot decide! So, then, General Pierce was not in the battle of Contreras, nor of Churubusco, nor of Molino del Rey, nor of Chapultepec, nor at the garitas But, says "Old Army," he was with his brigade on the afternoon of the 19th of August, and there was firing in the city after our troops entered it. Well, if "Old Army" will show from any official report that Pierce's brigade (except the 15th infantry, which crossed the pedrigal on the 19th August,) was exposed on either of these occasions, General Pierce may have all the glory that should inure to a general officer for so great an exposeen any sober man who thought otherwise. It months before the war was ended tary services of General Pierce in Mexico, let them inquire of any officer who saw him in his daily walks. There are many out of Washington and in it who can testify, if they will, besides ONE WHO SAW AND KNOWS.

P. S .- My distance from Washington will explain the delay in answering "Old Army. Special Meeting of the City Councils— Testimony of Respect. At a special meeting of the City Councils yesterday afternoon, the following proceedings took MAYOR'S OFFICE, Washington, June 29, 1852.

To the Board of Aldermen and Board of Common Council. GENTLEMEN: It is my painful duty to announce to you the death of HENRY CLAY. He died at his lodgings at the National Hotel, in this city, at ten minutes after eleven o'clock this morning; and I have called you together for the purpose of inviting you to adopt suitable measures to testify the respect of the corporate authorities and people of this city for the memory of this great man, and to express our sense of the irreparable loss which we, in common with the rest of the American results have sustained in the deeth of the ican people, have sustained in the death of this distinguished patriot and statesman. Of the eminent character and patriotic services of the deceased, in a public career of nearly half a century, it is not necessary to speak here. The Which? that is the question. If a hero, be his the honor; if not a hero, his friends must renounce an imposture.

"And the property of the property of the honor is the property of the honor."

"And the property of the prop graven on the hearts of his countrymen; and on none have they made a deeper or more enduring impression than on the people of Washington. Here he has passed a large portion of his life; and here have been witnessed those efforts which will embalm his memory as one of the noblest of our country's sons. I will most cordially co-operate with you in ender. It is as follows:

To the Editor of the Republic:

Sir: Your correspondent "Old Army," in the cased; and respectfully suggest whether it may not be expedient to invite a meeting of our citiproper on this occasion, in connexion with the corporate authorities. Respectfully, &c.,

JOHN W. MAURY. On motion, the foregoing communication was referred to a select committee, consisting of Messrs. Magruder, Towers, and Hill; who, after a brief pause, introduced the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we have learned with profound sorrow and regret of the decease of HENRY CLAY, the patriot and statesman. Resolved, That we sympathize with the whole American people in the mournful sensations caused by this great national bereavement. Resolved, That we tender the family of the de ceased the heartfelt condolence of the corporate authorities and people of Washington.

Resolved, That the Mayor, Board of Aldermen. Board of Common Council, and officers of this Corporation, will attend the funeral in a body, and will wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days; and that the people of the city be requested to unite with us in these melancholy ceremonies.

Resolved, That the Mayor be requested to cause the offices of the Corporation to be closed Resolved, That the Mayor be respectfully requested to communicate a copy of these resolu-tions to the family of the deceased, and to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

The resolutions were read. Mr. SILAS HILL, on seconding the adoption of the resolutions, said:

MR. PRESIDENT: Within the last few years a large number of very eminent men have departed from this life while residents of this city. rison, Taylor, and, I may also add. Polk, for his residence had but just terminated; Adams, Calhoun, and Clay, not to mention others,-have joined the increasing congregation of the "mighty dead." They were all men who in any age ar in any country would have been recognised as stars of the first magnitude in the political firma-Pierce's brigade, under my command in this ment. Their virtues, services, and, in respect to some, their commanding intellect and eloquence endeared them to the American people and excited the admiration of the world. It was therefore, natural that their successive decease should cause a profound sensation throughout and that he "brought up his comman! under fire the Union. But here that sensation, that endu-in fine order, and that there are men in Washing-ring grief, was and will be still deeper. This ring grief, was and will be still deeper. This ton who witnessed his gallant conduct on that ocwas the more immediate theatre of their power. here the displays of their proud triumphs; and here they were the more beloved from the genial developments of social life.

The three last-Adams, Calhoun, and Clayhad passed the greater portion of their lives in community Their names are literally household words with this and former generations; and, next to their immediate families, we beg permission to pour out the tribute of devoted hearts. Who can forget the form of the venerable Adams, moving unostentatiously in our midst? Have you, Mr. President, so soon-or rather, can you ever cease to remember the matchless glance of Calhoun, or the majestic mien of him whose decease this day we mourn? Their public services have and will be commemorated elsewhere in fitting terms; their eulogy and the delineation of their character have and will be portrayed: but, as neighbors and friends, the citizens of Washington will bend over the tomb of Clay, as in the other instances enumerated, with grief scarcely less profound than those of his immediate kindred. Shall the sonorous tones of that incomparable voice never again fall upon our ears? Are our social circles forever deprived of the frank, warm, cheerful spirit that has so long presided over them? How inexorable is death; and how fast the city of Washington is being filled with memorials of those who have occupied the highest places in the public estimation! It will soon become the Westminster Abbey my brigade in the glorious achievements of that of America-admired for even what its dust con tains. Like vestal virgins, let us guard the sacred treasure, and in our hearts embalm the virtues of those, particularly of him whose decease we mourn.

Mr. President, the resolutions which I now second will meet a response from this entire com-

The resolutions were ananimously adopted. The Board of Common Council, upon receiving the aforegoing resolutions, referred them to a committee, consisting of Messrs. Douglass, Pepper, and Hanson, who reported them without amend ment: and they were unanimously concurred in.

Mr. PEPPER offered a resolution, requesting the Mayor to appropriate the use of the Counci Chamber for laying the remains of the deceased in state, (with the assent of his friends,) to afford the citizens, and the public generally, an opportunity of seeing him for the last time. olution was adopted, and concurred in by the other Board.

A Song of Intemperance -A few minutes ago, we heard the following dialogue:
"You think Gen. Scott will be elected then,

"Old Army" asserts that General Pierce a fellow should get prefty drunk, he would be did not come home in the first train. But this is a very likely to have some wild notions in his miserable quibble. He resigned and came home in one of the first trains (I think, still, the first) something of that sort, but he would come to his senses again as soon as the effects of the liquor
